

EMPOWER YOUTH VOICES: CLOSE UP & MALONE SCHOOLS

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

A major focus of education is the preparation of young people for their roles as citizens in a democracy. Now more than ever, young people want to play a pivotal role in confronting and developing solutions to the pressing challenges facing our democracy, including political polarization, mistrust of institutions and fellow citizens, and an information crisis caused by hyperpartisanship and a fractured media landscape.

During the 2021-22 school year, Close Up will bring together students from across Malone Schools to deliberate about pressing national issues, explore the political and structural barriers to change in our country, deepen their understanding of existing campaigns for change, and create solutions across geographical and ideological divides. As a nationwide network of 28 schools in different states, Malone Schools Online Network is uniquely positioned for participating in this type of learning experience. MSON students regularly “learn across difference” in their classes, developing trust with peers from different communities and with different lived experiences.

Program Sessions

SERIES 1: DELIBERATIVE DEMOCRACY

How can young people engage on issues that matter to them and create a space for an informed exchange of ideas and perspectives?

Six online, synchronous, 75-minute sessions starting October 26, 2021

Through a series of six online workshops facilitated by Close Up, students will develop a deeper sense of the complex policy challenges facing the nation, connect those issues to long-standing values and tensions, and gain a rich understanding of the value of deliberation in a democracy. Students will examine three major policy issues, evaluate proposals that represent a range of viewpoints, and consider, as a group, how to best address these issues. After deliberating and developing a better understanding of their own values and priorities, students will participate in a training to build the facilitation skills needed to lead controversial issue discussions with peers in their own school communities.

SERIES 2: JUSTICE, EQUITY, AND BELONGING

How can you create positive, systemic change in your school or local community?

Six online, synchronous, 75-minute sessions starting January 25, 2022

Through this series of six online sessions, students will engage in inquiry and deliberation on an issue of their choice in order to understand the political and structural barriers to equity in education, health, and criminal justice. They will investigate the root causes of their issue, identify various approaches taken at the local and national levels, engage with a policy advocate, and create a proposal that incorporates their personal experiences and the tangible action steps they can take at home.

Past proposals have included recommendations regarding faculty diversity, representation in school curricula, and awareness campaigns promoting COVID-19 vaccination in low-income communities.

INSTITUTE FOR DELIBERATIVE DEMOCRACY

What if, instead of looking to others for leadership, young people stepped up to communicate and compromise across differences in an effort to address societal challenges?

In-person, Washington, DC, June 2022

Join us this summer in Washington, DC at the Institute for Deliberative Democracy! Deepen your understanding of the characteristics and causes of pressing national issues, participate in a program-wide deliberation led by Stanford’s Center for Deliberative Democracy, work in small groups to create meaningful solutions, develop a cohesive Youth Agenda for Action, and meet with public officials to advocate for your proposals. ## PROGRAM DETAILS

Program Eligibility

The program session and special rate is exclusively for students enrolled at Malone Schools in 9th and 10th grade. Each Malone School will have an opportunity to nominate a cohort of six students to represent their school in an examination of today's most pressing issues with students from across the country. We recommend that students participate in both online programs; however, we understand that students have many commitments and that it may only be possible to participate in one session.

In order to be eligible for the Youth Policy Summit, students must attend at least one of the online sessions.
